

Family Legacy Video[®]
Your Legacy Video
Planner

Hi!

If you're reading these words, you're probably thinking seriously about documenting your life stories, and/or those of other members of your family, on video. If so, kudos! A personal family legacy video will be a keepsake your family will treasure for generations.

Now, if you've never been involved with creating a video before, you may be having some difficulty visualizing your goals and desires for your legacy video.

If that's the case, this planner can help.

In the next few pages, you'll find some questions designed to help you organize your thoughts and create an initial description of your project.

Once you've done that, feel free to email your notes to me, or give me a call. We'll use your description as the basis for our introductory discussion. After that, I'll send you a brief proposal and price quote.

Thanks so much for reaching out to Family Legacy Video, Inc. I'll be honored to help you preserve, celebrate, and share your life stories.

PROJECT GOALS

What do you want to accomplish? More than one choice is okay.

___ Document a life history

___ Document a business history

___ Pass on values & lessons learned

___ Highlight a special location or building (like a home)

___ Honor a family member or members

___ Other:

STORYTELLERS

Who will tell the stories in this legacy video? You? Your spouse? Other family members? Friends? Business colleagues?

CONTENT

What stories, history, values, and/or messages do you want included in your legacy video project? Be as specific as you can.

VISUALS – FAMILY PROVIDED

What visuals can your family provide to enhance and illustrate the stories being told? Are they physical or digital?

- Still photos
- Newspaper/magazine clippings
- Books
- Audio recordings
- Diplomas
- Wedding announcements
- Plaques
- Trophies
- Medals
- Paintings
- Drawings
- Letters
- Keepsakes
- Souvenirs
- Childhood toys
- Family videos (or films transferred to video)
- Other:

VISUALS – ARCHIVAL

Family Legacy Video can conduct archival research to find stills and films that your family doesn't possess. This requires extra time and cost. Are you open to this?

- Yes No

PLACE(S)

Where will we need to go to shoot interviews and meaningful places like childhood homes, farms, businesses, etc?

COPIES

How many copies would you like, and in what formats?

- DVD (standard definition disc)
- Blu-ray (high definition disc)
- Video files on custom-engraved flash drives
- Hand-held player

BUDGET

What budget do you have in mind? Family Legacy Video's prices start at $8,500 (not including travel expenses) for our entry-level Q&A video. Our Premium and Deluxe legacy video treatments start at $20,000 and $27,500, respectively. Starting prices are for one shoot-day and an interview with a single storyteller (again, not including travel expenses).

POINT OF CONTACT

It's best to have one family member serve as the point of contact with the Family Legacy Video team. This avoids confusion and fosters clear communication. Who will be the point of contact for this legacy video?
